GENERAL CONDITIONS.

11. Parties tendering may do so by either of the three following modes at their option, viz.:—
1. The whole of the supplies of every description, in each District, may be included in one Tender, as at present.
2. Or the Supplies may be tendered in subdivisions, as below, by a separate Tender for each sub-division, viz.:—
1. The Military Ration.
2. The several Rations for Exiles and Convicts as described from 2 to 11, inclusive.
3. The Ration of Forage.
4. The Ration of Fuel and Light.
5. The Supplies for Hospitals.
6. The Supplies for Naval Service.
7. The Supplies for Army Hospital, Special and General Purposes.
3. Or the various articles comprising the several Rations referred to, as well as those required for Hospitals and other purposes, may be tendered separately or singly, by weight or measure. The undersigned reserving to himself the power of accepting Tenders or supplying by any of these modes which he may find most expedient.
12. Contractors shall have at all times on the spot pointed out for their Stores by the Dep. Com. General, a supply of fourteen days in reserve, in the care of a competent Agent, to whom reference may be had in the Contractor's absence, in default of which the Commissariat Officer, or other duly authorised person, may purchase at his, the Contractor's expense such articles as are not forthcoming; and in the event of repeated failures in this respect, together with other causes of dissatisfaction arising from the bad quality of the supplies as decided by Boards of Survey or arbitrators, it shall be in the power of the undersigned or his successors in office to cancel the contract and enforce the penalty.
13. In the event of a difference of opinion between the Contractor and the party receiving the supplies, as to the quality, the same is to be decided according to the practice of the service, by a Board of Survey. But in country districts, where a Board of Survey cannot be conveniently assembled, the party objecting will name one person as Arbitrator, the Contractor or his agents another, and these two will (previously to any other proceeding on their part) concur in naming a third as Umpire who, in the event of the Arbitrators not agreeing in opinion, will be called upon for his decision, which shall be final.
14. The only question referred to the Board, or to the Arbitrators, will be, whether or not the article objected to be such as, by his contract, the Contractor is bound to deliver; and if the Board, Arbitrators, or Umpire, shall decide that the article is not according to the conditions of the contract, it must be immediately replaced by the Contractor, failing which it will be procured, and the expense charged to his account. In cases where the article is of a perishable nature, or from some other cause injury would be sustained, either by the parties to whom the rations are due, or by the Contractor, by waiting for a Board of Survey, the Head of the Department, or the Officer in charge of the party or parties for whom the rations are to be received, shall have power to reject such article or articles as are obviously of inferior quality or in improper condition, it being distinctly understood that he will be responsible to the Government for so doing; and that the Contractor will have the right to appeal, although in the mean time, he must take back the rejected article, and supply good in its stead, failing which it will be obtained by the Officer or party requiring it, and the expense charged to the contractor.
When Fresh Meat, Bread, or Vegetables, supplied to Her Majesty's ships shall be rejected by the Surveying Officers on board, the Contractor shall take any or all of the rejected articles, and supply fresh ones in their place, otherwise they will be purchased at the Contractor's expense
15. It shall be in the power of either party to limit the duration of the contract, by giving, in writing, a notice of three calendar months to the opposite party, and to end the contract at the expiration of that period, it being understood that such a notice can be given only from the first day of a month, and within the period for which the contract is made, or agreed to be made; and not later than the 1st of August.
16. The Contractor shall prepare his own cash account monthly, according to the prescribed form; and shall receive payment on the production thereof, with the requisite vouchers in a complete state, before the termination of the succeeding month, always excepting where any purchase shall have been made under the provisions of Article 14 of these conditions, in which case no payment will be made until the claims of Government shall be fully satisfied.
17. The Contractor shall be bound to furnish his accounts for provisions, &c., issued, within fourteen days of the expiration of each month, and the sums so due must be drawn from the Commissariat chest at Sydney, within the succeeding month, otherwise the amount will be considered as forfeited to the public.
18. THE VALUE OF ALL PACKAGES SHALL BE INCLUDED IN THE PRICES DEMANDED.
19. Persons wishing to tender are requested to apply either at this office or to the Commissariat officers in charge of the several stations, who will furnish them with printed forms for the purpose, and communicate further particulars; and as adequate security will be required for the signing and due fulfilment of the contracts, each tender has an instrument attached, marked B, which must be signed by two competent securities, and properly witnessed, who shall bind themselves under the fixed penalties as laid down in Article 20, that all the conditions and stipulations of the contract shall be well and duly fulfilled, should the tender be accepted. No tender will be attended to unless made out as above directed.
20. The amounts of the bonds required in the several districts are as follows, if contracted for collectively, viz.:—Sydney, £2000; Parramatta, £500; Newcastle, £300; Moreton Bay, £300; Port Phillip, £500.
21. The contracts and bonds must be executed on or before the 1st March next, otherwise the penalties will be enforced.
22. Tenders, in duplicate, are to be closed in a separate envelope, addressed to the undersigned, marked "Supplies for 1851," and no tender made in consequence of this advertisement shall be withdrawn or altered, but notice of those accepted shall be given within eight days of the time of opening.
23. Flour in place of bread to be given for the Military ration, when required, in the proportion of 14 2-7th ozs. of the former, for 16 ozs. of the latter.
24. The Contractor for the District of Sydney will be bound to furnish the rations and articles particularised under the head of Provisions, Nos. 1 to 16, not only for the purposes specified, but also for any other purposes of the Military, Naval, Special, and Convict Services, whenever required to do so by the Commissariat.

The Revenue Tables just published are like certain puzzles of folded paper, which will convert into a variety of objects. Regarded in an annual point of view, it appears that they exhibit an increase of £646,000; but in a quarterly point of view, they make out a decrease of £280,000. So that the nation should laugh on the annual side of its countenance, and cry on the quarterly. A more remarkable incident is the fact, that the quarterly decrease is only not "more satisfactory" than the annual increase. If we consider the absence of the cholera panic which imparted a flourishing abundance to the rum and brandy duties, it is quite delightful to find the decrease in the Customs only £1000 or so; for although the duties in question have fallen off to the extent of £200,000; sugar, tea, tobacco, raisins, currants, and other articles, have rallied bravely; which attests the national prosperity: for how can there be an increase of consumption in plum-buns, mince-pies, &c., without a decided progress of the nation? The deficit of £184,000 in Excise is ascribed by the explanatory Globe to the remission of the brick-duties, about £240,000, besides return of duties on stocks to the amount of £23,000; leaving the Excise decrease a virtual increase. In like manner, the decrease of £179,000 on stamps is accounted for by the fact that people have not bought stamps; which is probably true: it is presumed that they waited for the [illegible] of Sir Charles Wood's law; and [illegible] be explained that the decrease of [illegible] for any other decrease of [illegible] delightful; for [illegible] country [illegible]

"Sworn to no Master, of no Sect am I."

THE 63RD ANNIVERSARY OF THE COLONY.

THE celebration of the 63rd anniversary of the foundation of the colony of New South Wales took place yesterday—the actual anniversary having fallen upon the Sunday previous. Notwithstanding the grumblings which abound as to the advantages or disadvantages which the inhabitants of this colony, whether native or immigrant, possess, there has on all such occasions as that of yesterday, for many, many years past, been evinced a most wholsome feeling of satisfaction at the blessings we possess—not unmingled with national pride—that we are the people of the land that is the mother of such blessings. We regard these grumblings as an hereditary privilege which belongs to men bred from the genuine British stock — and they are not so much the grumblings of discontent — at least we hope they are not so—as they are the offspring of a certain excusable vanity in our own industry and our own exertions. The inhabitants of countries which depend less upon their own labour than the favour of Providence for their subsistence and wealth, are generally an apathetic, and, in its meanest sense, a contented race. Those who love to thrive by the labour of their own hands, as the Briton does wherever he goes, are apt to overvalue their industry, and underrate the wages they obtain from it.

Be this as it may, the success of British industry, and the appreciation of that success, will break out on great occasions, and it evinced itself most satisfactorily yesterday. We say most satisfactorily, because we have not for a long period seen a more spirited yet rational enjoyment of the festivities with which it is our wont to greet the anniversary of our goodly country than that which welcomed us yesterday. We anticipated no less; and though some circumstances were against our predictions, they were on the whole satisfactorily fulfilled. The past year has doubtless been one of the soundest and most general prosperity which the colony has yet enjoyed. In the advancement it has made, there has been no glitter, no tinsel. It has acquired material wealth; and what is better, it has turned its thoughts for securing and increasing that wealth, to sources which will require steady industry, and not speculative chance for their good or evil development. If the grumblers ask us for proof of the soundness of the prosperity of the people of Sydney, we refer them to the scene of yesterday. Every phase of that scene looked evidence of the possession by all classes of adequate and abundant means—all classes and all grades were gathered together, and amongst them all where was the trace of distress or poverty? A liberal subscription list to provide attractions for the great national holiday of the colony betokened that the higher classes had had their hearts opened by the genial influence of a prosperous year. Nor did they content themselves with subscribing, but they were there to take part in the festivities and to add grace and dignity to them, by proper and chastened display, of their position in society. Not less satisfactory was the appearance of the middle classes. There was to us a feeling of indiscribable comfort in seeing people, well-dressed, enjoying themselves in all reasonable creature comforts, with a perfect composure as to expense, so different to that miserable picture, too often exhibited in England, where people of this class fast for a fortnight to feast for a day. And then with regard to the working-classes—those poor bepitied and be sympathised-with families—those oppressed components of the human race—[illegible] to be found? The stranger Englishman would have sought hard to find them, and yet they were there in their assembled thousands. But they were, as far as outward garb of personal condition went, undistinguishable from the great mass of their superiors in the grades of society. They were discernible only in the plain blunt brow, softened somewhat from its industrial care of the father as he led his family along into all the varied entertainments, proud and happy that they were dressed as well and looked as handsome and as happy as the best amongst the gay crowd. Could the most cynical declaimer for communism of worldly goods and equal rights go among that class and say that there was any stint or stay to their participation in the general festivity? It was a day of general festivity which the old year 1850—to which the colonists ought long to be grateful—had most auspiciously ushered in, and which was welcomed in a manner meet for the rejoicings of a [illegible] and gratified community. [illegible] welcomed [illegible] And having said thus much [illegible] a hopeful [illegible] of the festivities [illegible] as to the occasion and the general appreciation of them, we can afford to be brief in our detailed account of them. Rain, long looked and hoped for, set in heavily on Saturday afternoon, and continued at short intervals throughout Sunday, till about four o'clock on Monday morning. At nine o'clock the sky exhibited a most ominous aspect, but nothing daunted—trusting to the good genius of the colony, crowds thronged to the shores of the harbour to witness the annual regatta—the national sport of the colony, and which we always hail as emblematical of the future greatness of New South Wales as a commercial country. "Ships, colonies, and commerce," is the trite motto for a commercial colony: and New South Wales, she has her ships, she has her commerce, none will dispute those facts,—and if Port Phillip and Moreton Bay are not essentially her colonies, we know not who can claim the credit of colonizing those important settlements.

All round the eastern side of the harbour, thousands of gaily dressed spectators were eagerly engaged in watching the boat races, and such other amusements as suited their tastes. The numerous and picturesque islands of the harbour were wakened from their wonted stillness by pic-nic parties, and the "rocks and wild woods" became melodious with the sounds of joyous music. The steamers plied busily through the harbour, heavily freighted with living and hilarious cargoes, and the numberless skiffs dancing on the somewhat agitated waves, filled in a picture as animated and as picturesque as the imagination of the painter could desire. For a relation of the sports of the regatta we refer our readers to a detailed account below. But the celebration of the anniversary was not confined to these: shooting matches, races, cricket, and all the various holiday pastimes were resorted to to fill up the hilarity of the day; and fortunately, the weather keeping favourable, the brilliancy of the festivities of the 63rd anniversary of the colony was not overcast by a single shadow.

THE REGATTA.

By the regulations framed by the Committee the boats started from a line between Fort Macquarie and the flag-ship, (the Scotia, Captain Strickland). The day was ushered in by a fine breeze from the southward, which continued all day. Fort Macquarie as usual was reserved for the subscribers to the regatta and their friends, and was respectably filled. His Excellency the Governor and suite visited the Fort at 12 o'clock, and at about half-past one repaired in his barge on board the flag ship, where he was received with a salute of seventeen guns; which were fired with very great precision. A large company were assembled on board the flag ship, and under the generous hospitality of Captain Strickland and the Committee, a splendid entertainment, with which [illegible] fault could be found, and no [illegible] could reach, was provided, [illegible] which his Excellency and the [illegible] visitors did ample honour. After [illegible] was commenced, and spiritedly [illegible] dark. Every one seemed to enjoy [illegible] we have to congratulate them [illegible] this, as well as all their other [illegible]

The racing altogether may be pronounced equal to any that has taken place in the colony The qualities of the numerous boats that started were well tested by the fresh breeze, and the zeal, activity, and courage of their respective crews were kept constantly on the alert. We now proceed to give an account of the various matches.

FIRST MATCH.

For Sailing Boats not exceeding 15 feet keel; first prize, £7; second prize, £3. Entrance, 10s. 6d.

COURSE—To start from off the flag ship, round the boat off Goat Island, passing it on the south and rounding on the north side, then round Shark Island, passing it on the south and rounding on the north side, back to the starting vessel.

Boat.	Owner.	Colours or Dress.
Chance	Freeman	Red and white ball
Will Watch	Turner	Black and red, horizontal
Myalle	Burrowes	Blue Peter
Meteor	Doak	Red with yellow stripe
Rory O'More	M'Dunnock	Blue with green border

A pretty start, and the lead taken by the Will Watch, and the others close up. In this order they rounded the flag boat off Goat Island, and in passing the flag ship the "Will Watch" was considerably in advance, the "Chance" second, the others well up. In standing down to Shark Island they formed a very pretty race to the spectators. The Will Watch arrived first at the flag ship, winning the race—the Myalle second, Chance third, and Rory O'More a bad fourth.

SECOND MATCH.

All Gigs, pulling four oars; prize, £15. Entrance £1 1s.

COURSE—To start from off the flag ship, proceeding round a flag boat moored off Goat Island, passing it on the south and rounding it on the north side, then round Pinchgut Island, passing it on the north and rounding it on the south side, back to the starting vessel.

Boat.	Owner.	Colours or Dress.
Swift	Woodley	Red and white, white shirts, red cap
Maida	P. Richardson	Tasmanian ensign, blue caps, with red ribbons, white trousers and shirts
Young Cabinetmaker	G. Hill	Currency blue, white guernseys, red caps
Leander	M'Pherson	Blue and white ball, white shirts, blue caps

This was a beautiful race. The boats got away altogether, the Swift slightly leading. After rounding the flag-boat they passed the flag-ship in the following order:—the Swift 200 yards in advance, Maida second, Leander third, and the Young Cabinetmaker last. They rounded Pinchgut, and arrived at the flag-ship in the same order—the Swift winning easily.

THIRD MATCH.

For Licensed Watermen, pulling sculls, in any Skiffs. First prize, £8; second prize, £5; third prize, £1. No entrance.

Same course as second match.

Boat.	Owner.	Colours or Dress.
Sandfly	A. Melville	Red
Gold-dust	Tho. Mulhall	Blue and white
Wm Howard	Bullivant	Black
Mosquito	R. Love	Green
Quicksilver	G. Mulhall	Sky blue

From the well-known reputation of the Mulhall Brothers, they were almost universally selected as the winners of this race, and they fully sustained the high character in their vocation which they have so long attained. The race was in every respect a most interesting one. They started in a dead line, but had not proceeded many yards before the two favourites went a-head, and kept together, pulling the whole distance within a boat's length of each other, the race being eventually won by George. The Musquito gave up shortly after starting, and Maurice Bullivant in the William Howard came in a good third. Andrew Melville being last.

FOURTH MATCH.

For Skiffs, pulled by amateurs, to be approved by the Committee. Prize £10. Entrance 10s. 6d.

Same course as second match.

Boat.	Owner.	Colours or Dress.
Blossom	Buchanan	White with red star, white and red cap
Lotus	Mr. M'Lean, Mr. Moriarty	St. George's cross, pink guernseys, blue caps
Pet of St. Leonards	Green	Blue and pink horizontal, blue guernseys
Fly-by-Night	Howard	Light blue, white shirts and blue caps

The four got away well together, the [illegible] taking a slight lead, closely followed by the other three. Off [illegible] the Lotus St. Leonards [illegible] followed by the [illegible] threw her [illegible] Battery the Pet of boat, the [illegible] met with an accident which the Blossom in the rear. On reaching the Flag-This position Fly-by-night had got a good lead, out the [illegible] om and Lotus being well together. A splendid [illegible] was maintained nearly throughout. Lotus [illegible]. They came in, the Fly-by-night [illegible] first, the Blossom second, and the [illegible] third.

FIFTH MATCH.

For [illegible] Sailing Boats, five tons and under. Prize [illegible] £15; second prize, £5. Entrance, £1 1s.

COURSE—To start from their own moorings off the flag ship, then round the flag boat off Goat Island, passing it on the south and rounding on the north side, then round the Light-vessel and Sow and Pigs, passing them on the west and rounding them on the east side, back to the starting vessel.

Boat.	Owner.	Colours or Dress.
Eagle	Howard	Black
Lord J. Russell	Reynolds	Light blue
Ivanhoe	H. Martin	Dark blue
Midge	Kerr	Red with white star

A good deal of interest among the initiated was excited as to the result of this race, the Lord John Russell and the Ivanhoe being both new boats, the former built by Reynolds, of Balmain, and the Ivanhoe by Holdsworth, of Pyrmont—and both were expected to do some thing superior. On the discharge of the signal gun, the Eagle got cleverly away, the Midge second, the Lord John Russell third, and the Ivanhoe fourth. In making the Flag-boat the Midge managed to get the lead by about twenty yards, and the boats passed the Flag-ship in the following order:—The Midge fifty yards a-head, Eagle second, Ivanhoe close up, and the Premier all behind. At rounding Bradley's Head, the Eagle changed places with the Midge, and on their return the Eagle showed first, Ivanhoe second, Lord John third, and, the once beautiful and successful Midge, last. The Eagle beat the Ivanhoe by 2 minutes 37 seconds, and the Midge by 9 minutes 15 seconds, and the Lord John Russell by 5 minutes 30 seconds. The race is disputed—the Eagle being said to have fouled the Ivanhoe between Bradley's Head and the Sow and Pigs.

SIXTH MATCH.

For Wood and Fruit Boats that have been bona fide used for those purposes two months prior to the Regatta; prize, £10. Entrance, 10s. 6d.

COURSE—Same as First Match.

Boat.	Owner.	Colours or Dress.
Model	William Ross	Blue and red
John Thomas	Waterhouse	Blue, white, and red horizontal
Jane	Joseph Allen	Red
Maria	Thomas Jenkin	Blue and white
Susan	T. Moran	Blue, white, and blue

This was a very excellent race, although one boat entered—the Jane—did not start. The Maria won the race easily, the John Thomas second, the Susan third, and the Model all behind. The boats were all sailed with a great deal of judgement.

SEVENTH MATCH.

For all Coasters above 10 tons; first prize, £15, added to a sweepstakes of £2 2s. each; second prize, £10. Six entrances or no race.

COURSE—To start from off Fort Macquarie, round the boat off Goat Island, passing it on the south and rounding it on the north side; then round the boat moored off Big Manley Beach in North Harbour, passing it on the west and rounding it on the east side, back to the Flag Ship.

Boat.	Tons.	Owner.	Colours or Dress.
Emily,	30	Merriman	Red
Phantom,	23	C. Ventsman	Blue and white, blue to the main
Neptune,	15	Davis & Duffin	Red flag, white border and white ball
Victory,	18	H. A. Crause	White
Catherine,	26	Fawcett	St. George's Cross
Sylph,	18	W. Northwood	Dark blue
Scout,	20	W. Stewart	Black

This was decidedly a splendid race, and one which attracted much interest and attention. The Emily took a good start, the Phantom second, the Victory and Neptune next, the others close up. They passed the flag-ship in the following order: Emily 1, Phantom 2, Victory 3, Sylph 4, Neptune 5, Scout 6, Catherine 7. This race was beautifully contested throughout, but after passing Bradley's, several of the boats changed their places, and eventually came in in the following order: Sylph 1, Phantom 2, Victory 3, Scout 4—the two last boats making a beautiful struggle for the third place. The other three were a long way behind.

EIGHTH MATCH.

Boats 16 feet keel and under; prize £7; with a sweepstakes of 10s. Entrance 10s. Same course as No. 5.

Boat.	Owner.	Colours or Dress.
Mary Queen of Scots	Farrell	Red, white cross
Louisa Mable	French	White, red cross
Pilot	Dunlop	Blue peter

This was also a good race, being won cleverly by the Mary Queen of Scots, Pilot second, and the Louisa Mable last.

NINTH MATCH.

All Sailing Boats not exceeding 10 tons; first prize, £30; second, £20. Entrance, £2.

COURSE—To start from off Fort Macquarie, round the boat off Goat Island, passing it on the south and rounding it on the north side; then round Shark Island, passing it on the south and rounding it on the north side; then round the Flag Ship, passing it on the south and rounding it on the north side; then round the Sow and Pigs, passing on the west and rounding on the east side, back to the Flag Ship.

Boat.	Owner.	Colours or Dress.
Eagle, 5 tons	Howard	Black
Eclipse	Woolley	Red
Ivanhoe, 5 tons	H. Martin	Dark blue
Champion	Thornton	Blue peter

This race is always considered the crack race of the day; and certainly the expectation excited was never more fully justified than in regard to the match of yesterday. The Eclipse was decidedly the favourite, there being none daring enough to bet against her. The Eagle got away first, Champion second, Ivanhoe third, Eclipse last. In running towards the flag-boat the Champion overhauled the Eagle, and the Eclipse passed the Ivanhoe. The Champion held an excellent lead in passing the flag-ship, the Eagle second, the Eclipse third, the Ivanhoe fourth. This position was maintained till they reached Shark Island, when the Eclipse changed places with the Eagle and became second boat. The Champion, under the able management of the Macdonalds, better known as the "Scotch fishing boys," nobly kept her lead throughout the first round, and again passed the flag ship head boat, but was overhauled by the Eclipse between Bradley's and the Sow and Pigs. On coming home the Eclipse showed first round Bradley's, the Champion second, the Eagle third, the Ivanhoe a long way behind. In this order they passed the flag-ship—the Eclipse beating the Champion by three-quarters of a minute, the Champion beating the Eagle by 5½ minutes, and the Ivanhoe was so far behind that she was not timed.

TENTH MATCH.

This was a made up match, being a sweepstakes, between three whale boats, as follows:

Boat.	Owner.	Colour.
Salmon	Mulhall	Blue
American	Jones	Red
Unknown	Bailey	Red

It was a good race, but was well won by our colonial pullers, the Salmon coming in first, and the American a good second; the Salmon and the skiff Quicksilver, were built by Mr. Redgrave.

ELEVENTH MATCH.

For Ballast Boats that have been used as such two months prior to the Regatta; prize, £10. Entrance 10s.

COURSE—Same as No. 1.

Boat.	Owner.	Colours or Dress.
Hercules	Rilott	Light blue
Elizabeth	D. Munroe	Blue flag with white centre
Ripple	Waller	Blue peter

The Ripple went away with the start, kept it, and improved upon it, and came in an easy winner, the Hercules second, and the Elizabeth a long way behind.

TWELFTH MATCH.

For Gig and Dingy; prize, £3. Entrance 5s.

Dingy—Fog. Lee. Red.
Gig—Native. Thomoson.

This race, as usual, created much fun and amusement, and was won by the dingy, which baffled all the energies of his pursuer to catch him in the specified time.

This concluded the sports of the regatta, and we are happy to say, that while the racing was so good as to delight all who witnessed it, and the arrangements of the Committee so complete as to give satisfaction to all, that no accident [illegible] ROCKOIDGEL [illegible] occurred to mar the pleasures of the day, or cast a gloom over its recollections.

POLICE OFFICE.—This Court was open for about an hour yesterday morning, the sitting magistrates being the Mayor and the Police Magistrate. The only cases of any interest or importance on the lists being two charges of assault with intent: the one by a man named Murphy on a female named Cunningham, and the other by a boy named Coyle, of (apparently) thirteen or fourteen years of age, on a child named Hooper, by five or six years his junior. The witnesses were not in attendance, and the hearing of both cases was postponed until this morning, when the investigation will be held in the private office. Mr. D. Allan, Mr. O'Niell Brenan, and Alderman Broughton, are on the roster for bench duty to-day.

DESTROYING SHRUBS ON CROWN LANDS—A man named Polley yesterday pleaded guilty to an information by Mr. Pearce, Commissioner of Crown Lands, wherein he was charged with having, on the morning of the 25th ultimo, at Alexandria, unlawfully cut, damaged, and destroyed certain trees and shrubs, the property of Her Majesty the Queen, of the value of 3s. at the least. The bench sentenced the defendant to pay damages 3s, penalty 1s., and costs 5s. 10d, in default of payment to be imprisoned for 48 hours.

HOUSEBREAKING.—Between the hours of nine and ten on Sunday evening, the residence of Mrs. Angelina Hallett, of Botany, was robbed of a writing-desk and workbox, in one of which were seven £1 notes, four half crowns, a cheque for £7 10s., and a promissory note for £25. The box and desk it appears had been left near an open window, through which they were taken. Yesterday morning they were found a short distance from the house, but rifled of their contents.

The inmates of the Benevolent Asylum were yesterday (being the anniversary of the colony) regaled by the Right Worshipful the Mayor (Thurlow) with a dinner of roast beef, plum pudding, and tea.

THE MARKET BY-LAWS.—In pursuance of an advertisement in Saturday's Herald, a meeting of market gardeners and others interested in the sale of garden produce in the Sydney market, was held at Mr. Nobbs's, the Gardeners' Arms, York-street, for the purpose of presenting to Mr. J. N. Brown, an acknowledgement of his services, in obtaining a repeal of the by-law of the City Council, in regard to produce brought to Sydney for sale, the result of his labours being that the enormous impost of 5s. or more per load, to which growers had been subjected has been reduced to 6d. Mr. Simeon H. Pearce was called to the chair, who in presenting the testimonial (a massive silver cup, a splendid medal, and a purse of twenty-five sovereigns) said that he felt much pleasure in acceding to the request of the committee on so interesting an occasion, and in tending to him (Mr. Brown) their warmest thanks for his unremitted services in the cause of the tillers of the soil. By the exertions which he had made, sparing neither time, trouble, nor expense, he had removed a chain which had for a long time hung heavily on the cultivators of the soil. As an acknowledgement (said Mr. Pearce) of your valuable services for the advancement of the ancient and honourable profession of which you are a member, the Committee have placed in my hands a cup, a medal, and a purse, which, in the name of the horticulturists of New South Wales, I now present to you in token of our gratitude: hoping that you will long live to protect the horticulturist interests, and that this cup may be often filled with the fruits of your industry, so that when your children shall see it, and the inscription which it bears, they may be incited to follow their father's example, by becoming the advocates of freedom, of justice, and of free trade.—The cup is of massive silver, elaborately and appropriately carved—the medal, is an exquisite piece of art, and beautifully chaste in its design. Both reflect the highest credit on the skill of Mr. Richard Lamb, of whose establishment they are the products. On the cup is the following inscription: "Presented to James Neathway Brown, Esq., by the gardeners of Sydney, for his services in the abolition of the Market By-laws, 27th January, 1851;" and on the reverse of the medal is an inscription of like purport. Mr. Brown briefly acknowledged the honour conferred upon him, and took occasion to observe that the thanks of the meeting, and of the public, were in an eminent degree due to the members of the Legislature, by whom the battle was fought, but to more than any other individual, perhaps, the honorable the Colonial Secretary, the weight of whose powerful influence was entirely with them, and without which in all probability their efforts would have been entirely fruitless. Nor could he accept these tokens of approbation without acknowledging the valuable support and assistance he had received from the committee, and from the horticulturists as a body. He thanked them most sincerely; and trusted that he should always be found at his post, when the cause in which they were so much interested needed either advocacy or support. The cup and medal, we understand, will remain for inspection at Mr. Nobbs's for a few days.

Mr. Samuel Lyons reminds buyers that he sells at his mart, this day, at 11 o'clock precisely, beef tallow, ship's biscuit: at 12 o'clock, at Campbell's Wharf, Baltic deals. Immediately after the above, at Miller's Point Wharf, deals.—Communicated.

BOOK SALE.—Messrs. Mort and Brown request us to direct public notice to their book sale this day, at 11 o'clock, and as upwards of 700 lots have to be disposed of, the sale must necessarily commence punctually at the hour named.—Communicated.

STEAM FLOUR MILL, STEAM ENGINE AND MACHINERY, WITH 27 ACRES OF LAND, AT ILLAWARRA, NEAR KIAMA.—Mr. Samuel Lyons reminds buyers that he sells the above this day, at his Mart, at 11 o'clock precisely. Vide advertisement.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

(From our own Correspondent.)

GOULBURN.

STORM OF THUNDER, HAIL, AND RAIN.—This afternoon (Saturday), about five o'clock, this township was visited by a most terrific thunder storm, accompanied with hail and a torrent of rain. The two creeks which run through this town at the north and south were higher [illegible] "the oldest inhabitant" [illegible] higher than have been [illegible] remembers them to [illegible] the one at the south end of the town, on which Mr. Sinclair's mill is built, was so high as to form a current on both sides of the mill, and overflowed the bridge, the ledging on the high side of which has been carried away and otherwise damaged; a portion of the billet-wood was also flooded away. Considerable damage is also done to the fencing at both ends of the town, but the principal damage was done by the hail, which, though not so large as fell during the awful storm in 1845, was sufficiently large to do considerable damage to all the buildings which had nothing to protect the windows. Amongst the churches and chapels the Episcopal church seems to have suffered most. Amongst the hotels, Mr. Mendleson seems to have sustained the greatest damage. Mr. S. Moses, of the Royal Hotel, has also suffered considerably. Amongst the large stores Messrs. Benjamin and Moses' seems to have suffered most. Great damage has been done to the jail. But every house in the town has suffered more or less according to its size and situation. The storm came from the south-east, and it is said that in that direction, three miles from Goulburn, the storm was not felt. One gentleman, who observed the cloud, says, it was a water-spout. We were so engaged saving our windows that we had no time to take observations at the commencement of the storm. The hail which fell in 1845 was all shapes and sizes—that which fell to day was generally round, and about the size of marbles; there were some considerably larger, and came with great violence. Those who had the misfortune to be out say that they gave a stroke like that of a hammer. The hail only fell during a quarter of an hour, but the storm otherwise lasted above an hour. Had it come a little sooner very great damage must have been done to the crops, which are now all gathered in. The present rain will be of great service to the corn.

CASUALTIES IN CONNECTION WITH THE STORM.—The indefatigable driver of her Majesty's mail between Goulburn and Gundaroo and Collector had a narrow escape. He was coming into Goulburn at the time the storm was at its highest, and in endeavouring to cross the blind creek near his own residence, and opposite the John Barleycorn inn—the said creek had risen so high that it took the horses off their feet, and the vehicle was upset in the bed of the river, where it now lies. Several of those who saw the perilous situation of Bromey came to his assistance. We believe one of the mail bags is missing—the Gundaroo and Goulburn. On the banks of the same creek, a woman just confined had to be removed out of a hut near Sinclair's mill, lest the hut should be swept away. A man of the name of Allison, near the Scots Kirk, when endeavouring to catch some fencing, fell in and was all but swept away by the current. Two boys, one a son of Mr. Marsden, the other a son of Mr. Newman, were out in the direction of Bowbow: the former returned during the storm, but the latter has not yet—9 o'clock P.M.—been heard of. They were on horseback.

POLICE COURT.—On Tuesday the 21st inst., there was a cattle stealing and slaughtering case which occupied a very considerable time. There were two parties in the transgression—Cooper and Dunn. On suspicion being had against them, the former bolted: the latter was before the Court. On investigating the case, it appeared that Mr. Francis Cooper, of Willerroo, Lake George, had a lot of cattle running at that place, and had marked out one particular and well known cow to be slaughtered. On a subsequent day, when going to fetch it in, it was not to be found; the cow was known by the name of "White foot." From some information received, a warrant was granted by T. A. Murray, Esq., J.P., when the premises on which Dunn and Cooper were living were searched, and the head of the beast was found there disfigured by a particular horn being knocked off; an ear, having a particular mark, was also cut off. The constable, one Kirk, demanded the production of the hide, which was not forthcoming; defendant said that he had killed a cow, known by the name of Nib'et, but it appeared that the cow was still alive; a young man, a witness, nineteen years of age, showed a most awful degree of ignorance—if he could be believed; he said he had heard of a God, but did not know any thing more, he did not know whether there was a devil or a hell; the father of the young man was present and both were reprimanded by Captain Hovell; it was but too evident that both father and son were disposed to screen the prisoner. The prisoner was committed to take his trial at the ensuing Circuit Court.

This day a considerable time was taken up in a case of a publican called Williams, charged with abandoning his licensed house at Collector, known by the name of the Wheatsheaf; the case was postponed till this day week.

WHEAT AND FLOUR.—Flour has fallen since our last notice of prices one pound per ton; fine is now at Bradley's Mill £15 per ton; wheat has also declined from 5s. to 4s. per bushel.

GOULBURN HOSPITAL.—On Wednesday last, the annual meeting of subscribers to the Goulburn District Hospital was held at the Court House, Captain Hovell in the chair. On the motion of Mr Benjamin, seconded by the Rev. Mr. Hassall, the report was adopted; the treasurer's balance sheet showed a balance in favour of the Hospital fund of £127 10s. 3d.; a Ladies' Committee was appointed for the ensuing year, consisting of Mrs. Benjamin, Mrs. Hovell, Mrs. O'Sullivan, and Mrs. Schofield. The balloting for the Committee for the ensuing year then took place, when the scrutineers declared the election had fallen upon the following gentlemen:—W. H. Hovell, Esq., President; Rev. W. Sowerby, Treasurer; Rev. W. Ross, Secretary, Committee: Rev. R. Walsh, Rev. W. Schofield, Messrs. James Chisholm, C. E. Newcombe, Moss Marks, C. N. Phillips, P. Dignam, Joseph Bull, C. Walsh. Medical Officers, R. Waugh, Esq., J. Gerard, Esq. Captain Hovell having vacated the chair, the Rev. Mr. Hassall, of Bungonia, was requested to take the same, when the thanks of the meeting were given to the President, for his able conduct in the chair. Captain Hovell having returned thanks, the meeting separated.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—Two very excellent articles appearing in your journal this week, relative to cholera, has emboldened me to offer a few remarks upon that vitally important subject. Being in the year 1831 appointed surgeon to the largest and river side district of Lambeth parish, London, and which appointment I held about seven years, it was unhappily my lot to have several hundred cases of that malignant disorder under my own care.

"The Rate-Payer of Sydney," in to-day's, alluding to an excellent letter by "A Ship's Surgeon," states that it had created a great impression in the public mind." I am happy to hear this, and am of opinion that it merited that tribute; but distrusting as I do (in matters of so much importance) the durability of such impressions, unless they lead to prompt and decisive action, and thinking, moreover, that the public are too apt to sink again into a state of apathy and indifference, unless aroused from time to time by the ravages of some dreadful pestilence, which they have by their own neglect and supineness—in fact fostered and invited. I am induced to offer my mite, the result of considerable experience, to keep up that impression. I am no alarmist, nor am I ambitious of the character of one, but I consider it the peculiar province of medical men to initiate the public into the peril of their situation, to point out the shoals and quicksands, if they exist, and suggest remedies for their removal. It is therefore with a sincere hope that those whose duty it is will turn aside from their fancied security, awake from their slumbers, and as the lion shakes the dew-drop from his mane in the morning, let them dismiss from their minds all idea of any hope or comfort to be derived from the intelligence that "the cholera is on the decline in California;" this they may rest assured is a mere illusion—though, I apprehend, a too prevalent opinion, that it is chiefly in its character of an itinerant disease that we are in so much danger, that like small pox it is independent of local causes.

As far as regards the inhabitants of California themselves are concerned, it [illegible] is a matter of consolation that their chances of dying of mort de chien (for well may it be called the death of a dog), are lessened; for those who have witnessed it in all the horrors the true malignant cholera presents, cannot but congratulate them on their escape from so dreadful a scourge. I believe the number of killed and wounded in Paris, during the three memorable days of July, 1830, amounted to about 3000—I witnessed much of that slaughter, and dressed some of the wounded—but it was my lot the following year to witness death fearfully rapid and more appalling.

It is to shut our eyes to our own position to suppose we are only in danger, as regards our vicinity to the last place affected, and with which we have communication; if so, rigidly enforced quarantine laws would ensure our protection. Highly valued and necessary as those laws are, especially in the very feeling of security and absence from fear (so much to be avoided) which they create—this is not sufficient; as I apprehend if cholera breaks out in Sydney, we shall not have California alone to thank for it; but like the more fortunate but equally guilty culprit, not found out, Sydney will be found to possess all the materials at hand to generate its existence and aggravate its consequences. Unless prompt and decisive sanitary measures are forthwith adopted, we shall find, when it is too late, that the incubus is here, the germ is already in existence, locally requiring only atmospheric vicissitudes, disproportionate degrees of heat and cold, and other influences destroying the salubrity of the atmosphere, to bring it into existence. I will stake my professional reputation, that, upon its appearance in Sydney, within the period necessary for the carrying out those preventive measures, which will doubtless be recommended by the Board of Health, that the cause will be found either in the individual, or in some of those local and exciting causes which favour its development by destroying the healthiness of the atmosphere; and that Sydney, like California, will have the merit of its local origin, irrespective of any intercommunication. As I do not believe that it is infectious, that is, communicable from one individual to another, though, arising from contagion produced by malaria, like typhus, but fearfully more rapid. I remember a circumstance confirmatory of the opinions entertained upon the subject by my lamented and much esteemed friend and teacher, Dr. John Armstrong. A lodging house in the vicinity of the hospitals, frequently inhabited by medical pupils during the winter session, being condemned in consequence of several young men entering that house fresh from the country in good health—being attacked, after slight cold—with typhus fever, and in two instances their lives were sacrificed. This house had in the rear (which was pointed out by Dr. Armstrong) an open filthy ditch, where decomposible animal and vegetable substances were continually exposed; this, from the fatal results, from a cause so apparent, made a lasting impression upon me in the year 1828, but it was my lot a few years afterwards to witness upon a much larger scale, the effect of such causes, and the consequences of neglect of those precautionary measures which were deemed necessary.

I am glad to see the formation of a Board of Health, this is an earnest of good intentions, and I doubt not good results will follow; but it must be borne in mind, however zealous and willing the authorities may be, the public have their duty to perform, as it cannot be expected that the members of that board can individually or collectively be employed in ferreting out nuisances—the public must assist them. Let every man look in and roundabout his own dwelling; and, upon discovery, any individual and public interests must give way to the health of the community, and I have no doubt, upon their being reported, they would be immediately attended to. But, as I promised to show the consequences of neglect of salutary measures until it was too late to avert the mischief which ensued, I may state that in the early part of the year 1831, my predecessor (who held the appointment upwards of twelve years) assured me that a particular portion of my district was scarcely ever free from typhus—the epidemics affecting children, and erysipelas adults, were almost invariably accompanied by fever of a low typhoid kind, of which fact I shortly had abundant testimony, which created no surprise. Looking at the low, damp situation, and many fruitful sources from which must spring malignant and pestilential diseases, and that, when cholera did break out here, it should proceed with fearful rapidity, and assume the most malignant character.

Low damp situations are favourable to it, as well as the houses being imperfectly drained, and the atmosphere of the neighbourhood polluted by the gases from offensive trades, open drains, and constant exposure of putrid fish and vegetables on the banks of the river, together with filth of every description continually undergoing decomposition by heat and moisture, with every conceivable and abominable nuisance that poverty and uncleanliness could produce. The habits also of the inhabitants being intemperate, rendered them exceedingly liable to fall early victims. An insufficiency of good wholesome food—its place too frequently supplied by fish no longer fit for sale, their business being to hawk it through the streets—together with frequent visits to the neighbouring gin palaces, rendered their physical condition peculiarly unfit to resist the influence of local causes, or in fact any epidemic. I remember one house, crowded like the most of them, where the inhabitants step from their threshold into a common necessary. Upon the question of contagion I find that the profession now nearly agree, that in the absence of those causes which gave origin to the disease, it is no longer communicable from one person to another, for instance, to remove a person afflicted to a perfectly pure atmosphere: I believe that a person may sleep in the same bed with impunity. I am of opinion also that if medical men fall victims to this disease, it is occasioned by the fatigue, want of rest, and great anxiety attendant on their herculean labours during a visitation of cholera in such densely populated neighbourhoods. Notwithstanding the appalling mortality detailed in London, cholera is pre-eminently under the influence of preventive medicines, and sanatory police.

It is now therefore the duty of Government and the Council to adopt such measures as may be deemed necessary to remove those causes which are likely to produce it. And if the latter wish to deserve well of the citizens, it behoves them to cease agitating upon all but the one question of sanitary reform—the lives probably of thousands are at stake upon the issue.

The causes which apparently influence the prevention of cholera are atmospheric, local, individual, and exciting. The most influential local causes exist in low damp situations, the vicinity of common sewers and open ditches, filled with refuse, crowded neighbourhoods, recently, and especially overstocked grave-yards, cesspools, absence of means of carrying away putrid vegetable and animal substances, want of free ventilation, and an ample supply of good water, frequently are the chief exciting causes; bad water may be ranked, especially if contaminated with noxious ingredients.

I am informed that the Council have it in contemplation watering the streets of Sydney with salt water, I hope to see this carried into effect as speedily as possible. No possible injury can arise from it, but an incalculable benefit must. To show how the absence of all those causes I have enumerated, so calculated to engender cholera, has produced in one establishment a perfect immunity, I may mention, that among the places exempt in a most surprising manner from this disease, was found to be Bethlem Hospital, where no case occurred among a population of 700 persons, though situated partly in two parishes where it was raging fearfully—Lambeth and St. George—and the cholera depôt of the latter parish was situated immediately opposite the very gates of that Institution. This remarkable freedom was doubtless owing to the excellent ventilation and cleanliness which attracted the admiration of all visitors, plentiful, wholesome, and regularly served food, abundant supply of good water from a deep artesian well, and other Hygeian measures, regularly maintained. I am aware also that they refused admission to any lunatic coming from an infected district.

To prove the ulterior benefit which accrued from attention to sanitary recommendations, I may mention that my colleagues, as well as myself, met daily for a short period during the time the cholera prevailed in that parish, to prepare suggestions for the Board of Health with reference to any nuisances we considered in existence, and also any improvements we thought necessary to improve the condition of the poor, and render the locality more healthy—which suggestions were promptly acted upon, and the results were most satisfactory. They had control or influence over the habits of the individuals; but the district bore no longer the opprobia attached to it, of generating typhus. It seemed as though a change had indeed come over them, as sickness of any kind diminished in frequency, and results more favourable. It should be remarked, however, that among the several hundred cases I had, only one solitary case occurred in my private practice; but that portion of the district where this case occurred was in the most elevated, and the inhabitants, though suffering very much from diarrhœa, induced by atmospheric influence, were exposed to none of the local and exciting causes I have enumerated. In the one case I allude to my patient had suffered a long time from a neglected diarrhœa, which being the preliminary symptom, great danger is to be apprehended from the delay in arresting its progress—which proved so in this case, as I found at my first visit my patient writhing on the floor, in unspeakable agony from cramp, and in the last stage of collapse, the low husky and sepulchral tone in which that word cramp is enunciated, is like a voice from the grave, and once heard and witnessed with its effects, never to be forgotten, this lady, by prompt measures and the same treatment I pursued in all cases, recovered; had it occurred under the other more unfavourable circumstances, re-action would never have taken place.

Notwithstanding its fearful rapidity, as I have known death occur six hours from the commencement of the seizure, I know of no disease where in the several stages a prognosis can be arrived at with more certainty. A successful application of those remedies, which are recommended to produce re-action immediately inspires one with hope. I remember Dr. James Johnson mentioning to me, while visiting my cases with me, one symptom, which if it supervened, as the result of a particular treatment, it might be considered as a harbinger of a favourable result; I found ample testimony of this. I am unwilling to anticipate evil, but the nature and results of the treatment I pursued should receive every publicity from me without any reserve; but I do sincerely hope that my services will never again be called in requisition.

To show the active steps that were taken upon the first appearance of the disease, I may state that the French Government had Boards of Health established before it made its appearance in Paris. And M. Azoux, the eminent pathologist was sent over to get all the information he could upon the subject; he visited me several times, saw my cases, and rendered me great assistance during that period.

In conclusion, I beg to express a hope that, upon the same principle which regulates Governments—wishing peace, are always prepared for war—will now induce a speedy adoption of those measures so imperatively called for.

MEDICUS.

Sydney, January 22.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—As an inhabitant of the northern part of the city, I was much surprised at a rumour that it is the intention of the Ordnance Department to lease the house at Dawes' Battery, together with the open piece of land known as the Battery Point. This is the only spot open to the public in this part of the city, and consequently resorted to by the inhabitants for promenade and enjoyment of pure air. It has always been so regarded, and for many years the public have been allowed free access. It is therefore to be hoped that either the Ordnance Department or the colonial Government (I am not aware which has now the control) will not for the sake of a few paltry pounds sacrifice the health and comfort of the citizens by devoting it to any other purpose.

I pen these few lines in the hope that if such a measure be in contemplation, the Government will have sufficient forbearance to defer carrying out such an arrangement.

I am, Gentlemen, yours, obediently,

AN OLD RESIDENT OF GEORGE-ST. NORTH.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—I beg, through the medium of your columns, to call the attention of those persons in authority to a most disgusting practice that is at present carried on in the Outer Domain. I cannot better describe it than by relating the scene that took place on last Wednesday morning, when, returning from the Baths, I noticed an old man level a musket and fire it among a number of people, chiefly females and children, that were passing at the time. His intention was to have killed a dog, which he did not do, but miserably wounded and let it go howling away, instead of despatching it at once; and, when remonstrated with, he gave the lowest abuse to those ladies who spoke to him on the subject.

I am sure if it is necessary that dogs should be destroyed, it does not follow that the passengers' feelings should be outraged and their lives endangered by deputing unskilful men to carry a musket for the purpose. Why not adopt the means that is employed in the interior, by poisoning meat and leaving it in different places in the Domain? If the public were aware that such a course was adopted, the dogs that were valuable would be taken care of, and those that were useless would be destroyed without endangering any one's life.

I remain, Gentlemen,

Your very humble servant,

A BATHER.

WOOL MARKETS.

(From the Mark Lane Express.)

BRITISH WOOL.

LEEDS, October 11.—Sales of combing wools have been to a moderate extent. Prices firm and stationary. In short wools we do not quote any alteration.

EXETER (Friday last). This article is rather better worth—staplers being free buyers at 7d. per lb., and in some instances giving 7¼d. per lb.

LIVERPOOL, OCTOBER 12.

SCOTCH.—We are still without much demand for Scotch; and, although there is more anxiety to sell, there is only a limited business doing, the principal inquiry at present being for Wool of bright colour.

FOREIGN is in good request, but the quantity offering is small, most of the late arrivals being held for public sale the 23rd instant.

Import for the week .... 2,895 bags.

Previously this year .... 47,042 „

FOREIGN WOOL.

CITY, Monday.—The imports of Wool into London last week comprised 141 bales from Germany, 646 from Berdianski, 475 from Bombay, 886 from Sydney, 201 from South Australia, 398 from New Zealand, and 621 from Algoa Bay.

The market continues very steady.

LEEDS, October 11.—The demand for foreign wool continues without any material change, about an average business having been done. Prices also remain firm.

BRESLAU, October 11.—Notwithstanding the satisfactory result of the Leipzic Cloth Fair, our Autumn Wool Market has not been very lively, owing to a total want of wholesale buyers. There were only the lower descriptions of Silesian, Polish, Russian, and Hungarian fleeces, as well as summer Wool, which found a ready sale, and which for the greatest part have been taken by the neighbouring manufacturers at steady prices. In all there have been brought to market 21,000 cwts., of which quantity there have been sold 10,000 cwts., and have been left about 11,000 cwts., among which a great number of fine and superfine flocks, which are offered some per cents. under our fair prices. Fine Skin Wools in bundles at from 70 to 75 thalers, as well as locks and refuse, at from 50 to 56 thalers, have been in good request, but scarce.

TALLOW, HIDES, &c.

(From Goad and Rigge's Circular, September 30.)

THE TALLOW MARKET.—There has been an active demand, with an upward tendency in value nearly all the month. A large general business has been done, and prices have experienced a considerable advance. Russian is now bringing fully 1s. 6d. per cwt. more than at the close of August, the present range being 38s. 3s. for old, and 38s. 9d. to 39s. per cwt. for new tallow; the latter is also quoted at 40s. for delivery in January.

The prospect of the arrivals being late from Russia, and the small supplies coming from the river Plate, created a speculative feeling in the early part of the month, and as the consumers were then scantily supplied they began to purchase more freely, which produced a general reaction in the market, the sales were large, and prices daily improved. The home trade having taken a fair supply, there has been less business doing the last week, but the deliveries are large, and the market closes firm at the quotations.

The late advices from St. Petersburgh report that market firm, and prices looking up. The total quantity of tallow shipped for Great Britain appears to be about 5000 casks less than at the same period last year; the shipments to London, Liverpool, and Bristol, seem about the same as in 1849, but to other ports in England and also to Ireland, there was less. It is generally supposed the total shipments from Russia this season will not exceed those of last.

The home supply continues good, though by no means so large as it was, owing to the late dry weather—the consumption, however, has been much larger than usual, and the value of town tallow has consequently advanced 3s. per cwt. this month, the present rate being 38s. per cwt. nett cash.

NEW SOUTH WALES has been in good demand this month, the sales are large, and prices have advanced fully 2s. to 2s. 3d. per cwt. for all descriptions.

Good fair parcels of mutton tallow now meet ready sale at 38s. 3d. to 38s. 9d., and beef from 37s. 3d. to 37s. 6d. per cwt., the low inferior qualities bring proportionate rates.

Although the arrivals this month have been large, the sales have exceeded them greatly, and the stock is now much reduced, being very little over what it was at the close of September last year; and as there is a greatly increased demand for all qualities of Australian tallow, the market closes firm, with a prospect of good prices being maintained for some months to come.

The import of the quarter has been 8646 casks, against 6349 casks in the same period last year; and the total import up to the present time this year is 17,879 casks, against 13,526 casks in the same time last year. The sales during the last three months have been 7565 casks, against 3199 casks in the corresponding quarter of last year; and the total sales this year 16 856 casks, against 11,392 casks up to the 30th September, 1849. The stock is now 4523 casks, against 4365 casks at the same period last year.

The total sales of the month comprise 3320 casks, and present prices are as follow:—

NEW SOUTH WALES HIDES have been in good demand, and sold briskly as brought forward at an advance of ⅛d. per lb. on the best qualities. They continue to be taken freely for export, and are likely to continue in good request. The sales comprise 9989 salted hides, as follow:—Best heavy, 51½ to 53½ lb. 2¾d. to 2⅞d., ditto light, 40½ to 42¼ lb 2⅞d. to 3d; second class and damaged hides, 2¼d. to 2½d. per lb. Import, 4188 hides, and the present stock consists of 4093 hides.

SHEEPSKINS.—No transactions have taken place in South American; 12 bales have just arrived, and which form the present stock. Full prices have been realised for other descriptions, and the sales to report are 10,219 Cape, fine wools, 17s. 3d. to 27s.; coarse, 11s. 9d.; shorn and inferior skins, 4s. 3d. to 9s. 9d. per dozen; 9970 Mogadore sheep, 18s. to 23s. per dozen; 716 New South Wales, sound, 36s. 3d.; damaged and lambs, 13s. 3d. to 25s.

HORNS.—In ox and cow a limited business has been done, arising from the small quantity in the market, but full prices have been obtained. Buffaloes' are in good demand, and heavy horns have realised high prices. The sales of the month comprise 7346 New South Wales horns, as follow:—14¾ oz. 38s. to 38s.6d. per 123; 13,689 Cape, 39 to 40 oz., 76s. 6d. to 91s. 6d. 11½ to 27¼ oz. 29s. to 56s per 123.

BONES.—Common are in fair demand at late prices. Shanks have been offered only in small quantity; full prices are freely obtained. The sales have been six tons B. A., inferior shanks and common bones, 4l. per ton; 32 tons Cape, common, 3l. 12s. 6d. per ton.

The following is a list of the bishops who signed the memorial to Rome against the condemnation of the Queen's Colleges:—Dr. Murray, Archbishop of Dublin; Dr. Delany, Bishop of Cork; Dr. Denvir Bishop of Down and Connor (Belfast); Dr. Ryan, Bishop of Limerick; Dr. Blake, Bishop of Dromore (Newry); Dr. Forem, Bishop of Waterford; Dr. M'Gettigan, Bishop of Raphoe; Dr. O'Donnell, Bishop of Galway; Dr. Kennedy, Bishop of Killaloe; Dr. Egan, Bishop of Kerry; Dr. Healy, Bishop of Kildare (Carlow); Dr. Browne, Bishop of Kilmore; and Dr. Kelly. By this it will be seen that the bishops representing the cities and large towns, in every instance have voted in favour of educating the people, while the supporters of Dr. M'Hale, like himself, belong to very obscure rural districts.

THE TALLOW TRADE.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 14.

ADVICES from St. Petersburgh dated the 6th instant, state that a steady business was doing in Tallow on foreign account, at very full prices, viz, 110½ to 111 roubles for Ukraine. The shipments were progressing, and there are now upwards of 17,000 casks on the way to London. On the whole, a fair average business is passing in our market, but a little alteration in the quotations. To-day P.Y.C. on the spot is quoted at 38s. 9d. per cwt.; Town Tallow, 38s. to 38s. 3d. per cwt. net cash; rough fat, 2s. 2d per 8lbs.

PLATE ROBBERY.—Mr. Thomas Charles Sirrell, gold and silver refiner, of Barbican, a tradesman doing a large and profitable business of an apparently respectable character, was on Friday, the 4th October, arrested by the police on a charge of receiving a quantity of stolen plate with a guilty knowledge of the mode in which it was obtained. A large quantity of plate was stolen from the residence of the Rev. Mr. Richards, a Catholic clergyman, at Bootle, near Liverpool. The officers visited Mr. Sirrell's on Wednesday, at noon, and seized goods to the value of £60,000. They telegraphed the seizure to Liverpool, and received instructions to arrest Mr. Sirrell; they did this, and from discoveries they replied with directions to arrest parties at Liverpool; this was also done, and Mr. Sirrell has been taken before the Liverpool magistrates. Since his apprehension the prisoner's shop has been closed. Notwithstanding the apparently fair system of business, it is notorious that the police have constantly had their eye upon it; and whenever a large robbery of plate was known, immediate caution was given to Mr. Sirrell not to purchase any. Mr. Sirrell's answer, however, was, that he gave a fair value to all, and that he could not use more discretion than he had all along shown. Crucibles were in daily operation at the house, and therefore, he had more than ordinary facilities for destroying the identity of silver. Some idea of the extent of his business may be formed from the circumstance that when he was informed that he must proceed to Liverpool, he inquired of his clerk what cash he would want, for he would only be away a few days or so; the clerk said £1,400 might do, and Mr. Sirrell accordingly gave him a cheque for that amount, to meet the shop's disbursements. On the 10th October, M'Auley, M'Guire, and Mr. Sirrell, were brought before Mr. Rushton. The prisoners were all remanded, and the magistrate refused to take any amount of bail for the appearance of Mr. Sirrell. On the 17th October, the prisoners were again brought up, when they were committed for trial. When the police arrested Mr. Sirrell, last week, for receiving stolen plate from Liverpool, they examined his general stock and saw enough to induce them to seize the whole, on suspicion that it was the produce of robberies. It was removed from Barbican to the Scotland-yard station. By Monday a large portion of it was recognised. Mr. Lovegrove, of the London Coffeehouse, claimed a number of spoons and forks. It has been ascertained that a pair of salt-cellars, part of the packets sent from Liverpool, were stolen from the house of Mrs. Tinly, a lady living in that town. Sirrell and the other men were yesterday committed for trial.

ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE FROM RUSSIAN TYRANNY.—FATAL RESULT.—A frightful tragedy has just been enacted on the Prusso-Polish borders. On the 1st of the present month, ten Tscherkessen delivered themselves up to the district commissary in Krussnitz, stating that they had deserted from the Russian garrison at Lowicz, because they were not permitted to return to their own country after having voluntarily served in the present campaign in Hungary. They were all well armed and mounted, and the district commissary, not knowing what to do with them, forwarded them to his superior officer, the landrath (provincial councillor) in Inowraclaw, together with a written reclamation of the fugitives from the commander of the Caucasian troop in Lowicz. The landrath enquired of them what they wanted, and why they fled? The unhappy men all declared that they wished to take service in Prussia, being disgusted with the brutal ill-treatment they had met with from the Russian officers. They requested to be allowed to proceed to Berlin, but the landrath, whose name must not be omitted (Fernow), replied to them that that was impossible, and that they must deliver up their arms and allow themselves to be reconveyed across the frontier, in obedience to the treaty between Russia and Prussia, which requires the immediate delivery to either of every deserter. They were then conducted to barrack, which they refused to enter, saying they could accept none but free quarters. It was the intention of Landrath Fernow to have them disarmed the moment they entered. They then declared themselves willing to return to Poland, but refused to give up their arms on any account. The civil authorities then called in the aid of the military, and 30 dragoons were ordered to take their arms by force. Seeing the dragoons approaching, the Tscherkessen spurred their horses round and fled, pursued by the dragoons. During this flight several shots were fired by both parties. A corporal of dragoons was shot dead, and several others wounded. Two wounded and one unwounded Tscheress were also taken prisoners, and the bodies of two dead were brought into Inowraclaw in the afternoon. The remainder fled into two houses on the road-side about 2000 yards from Moraclaw. Here they barricaded themselves in, and were formally surrounded. One house was set on fire, but the daring men fled into the other. Infantry was then ordered up from another neighbouring village. Forty men arrived and opened a fire on the second house with rockets. It soon caught. Four of its courageous tenants rushed out of the door, firing their rifles, but were received with a shower of balls, which put an end to one and wounded the other three; the fifth was burned to death in the house. An infantry private fell a victim to their rifles during the time they occupied the second house. In this incredible affair three Tscherkessen were killed and five dangerously wounded; three of the latter cannot survive their wounds, so that only four will be delivered up to Russia. Two of the soldiers were killed, and four wounded. And all this blood was shed to deliver up ten innocent men to the tyranny of Russia, from which they had fled. The event created a great sensation in Prussia.

Arrangements, which it is very generally stated have received the sanction of her Majesty's Government, have been made for introducing early next session a bill into Parliament providing for the erection of Southwark into a distinct episcopal see. To accomplish this object, it is intended to subdivide the present immense diocese of London and Winchester, in the latter of which Southwark is situate; in other words, to divide amongst three Bishops the labour which is now performed by two. The new diocese of Southwark will comprise the whole of the county of Surrey, and all that portion of the Archdeaconry of Middlesex lying eastward of the city of London, as well as those portions of Kent which are now comprised within the boundaries of the Metropolitan see. Under the new arrangement, the diocese of Winchester will consist of the entire county of Hampshire, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Wight. The diocese of London will consist of the parishes within the city, and of that portion of the Archdeaconry of Middlesex westward of the city. The new Bishop of Southwark will have under his jurisdiction a large number of benefices; and arrangements will be made for conveying to him that portion of the patronage now held in the proposed new see by the Bishops of London and Winchester on the avoidance of one or both of these dioceses. A provision will be made for a seat in the House of Lords for the new Prelate, in rotation with other Bishops, on terms similar to those introduced into the bill for the erection of the new see of Manchester.—Globe, October 11.

SUPPLY OF SPIRITS TO SAILORS.

(From the Temperance Herald.)

ANOTHER move in the right direction has just been made by our Government. After a careful examination of the subject of supplying the sailors of the British Navy with grog, it has been concluded to reduce the quantity one-half, and in place of the half of which they are deprived, to make an adequate pecuniary allowance to the common sailors and those immediately above them.

A committee of the flag officers and captains, headed by Admiral Sir Byam Martin as chairman, having been appointed for this service by the Admiralty, they examined a large number of witnesses at great length, and reported the following, amongst numerous other observations, to the Lords of the Admiralty:—"3. The concurrent testimony of all whom we have examined on the subject of drunkenness in the navy, proves the necessity of some remedial measures; and we consider the step now contemplated, with a view to its prevention not only expedient, but imperatively called for, as well for the safety as the credit of her Majesty's fleet. 5. Accidents, frequently fatal, are the consequences of men, under the influence of liquor, having to perform duties aloft. The lives of boats' crews are often risked, and sometimes sacrificed, in the attempt to save drunken men who have fallen overboard. 6. Fire, under the most awful circumstances, is another of the dangers to be apprehended; but still more serious would be the consequences of drunken men being called suddenly into battle at night time amidst lighted lanterns and gunpowder. 7. To guard against dangers of such magnitude, as well as to repress the insubordination which generally attends drunkenness, severity has sometimes been necessary. But no dread of punishment seems to overcome the propensity. 8. It is, therefore, better to seek preventive measures than continue an ineffectual effort to suppress the crime by the ordinary resources of discipline. 17. The seamen, without one exception, admit in their evidence that drunkenness is the prevailing crime on board her Majesty's ships, and they acknowledge with equal frankness that drunkenness is the cause of almost every punishment. 18. With such evidence from the seamen themselves, it would be superfluous to seek further proof of the necessity of some measures which would put an end to a state of things so destructive to discipline and injurious to health. 19. The facts, as set forth in the evidence attached to this report, warrant us in saying that drunkenness must be put down; it cannot be any longer permitted, consistently with what is due to the efficiency of the fleet."

Such are some of the numerous "observations" of the Committee on the evidence adduced before them on this important subject; and although the recommendation of the Committee stops short by one-half of what well attested facts would have borne them out in making, we are nevertheless glad to have so large an instalment; with further enlightenment we may expect the entire disuse of spirits as a daily beverage. That the course of events is working in this direction is evident from the following remarks in a recent number of the Times:—"That the object which it is thus proposed to arrive at is a great and important desideratum, there can be no doubt, as it is a notorious fact that the majority of the punishments which take place in the British navy are either directly or indirectly the result of drunkenness; and the 'cheerful can' to the cat-o'-nine-tails is but too frequently a consequence of the inevitable laws of cause and effect." The writer goes on to say—"There is something so natural, so familiar, to British ears, in the association of seamen with grog, that it would, perhaps, be a hopeless task to endeavour to prove that one is not a necessary adjunct to the other. Yet, in the American navy grog is unknown, or at least the exception and not the rule—the coffee or tea pot is the sober substitute for the grog-can; and a solemn evidence that there is no disadvantage in the system—that the case, in fact, is the reverse—is the fact that in a service requiring all the energy, hardihood, and skill, that a seaman can possess, namely, the whale-fishery, the ships of the United States have confessedly driven the English out of the South Sea and the Pacific, and have monopolized that once flourishing and profitable branch of our commerce."

LEVIATHAN.—In Job we are presented with a truly magnificent description of Leviathan. It is most interesting to mark this delighted contemplation by God of His own works—thus stamping a warrant of sacredness on our tasteful admiration of them—as of the parts, and the power, and the comely proportion of this noble creature. Who can approach or come so near as to put the bridle into him? The "face of his garment" may just be the outer surface of the skin, which is his clothing. The "doors of his face" is a highly poetical expression; and still more beautifully so is the comparison of his eyes to the eyelids of the morning. And what an impression of strength is given by the impenetrable closeness of his scales and flakes of flesh—as well as of his marvellous power—in the light given forth by his neesings, and the electric fire that he casts about him by his breathing and agitations in the water. The "sorrow being turned into joy" is not very clear; it may be that the sorrow of others whom he makes his prey is his joy. The strength of his inward part is most forcibly depicted. His excellency both of might and gracefulness is all the more enhanced by the helplessness of them who are opposed to him. His breaking is obscure and variously interpreted. It may be that when he throws the sea into breakers by his motion they repent of their sins as if on the eve of perishing. His superiority to fear and danger is finely described. What a vis poetica in the trait of his laughing at the shaking of a spear. So impenetrable is the lining of his body that he can lie with ease on the sharp stones that are under him, or as if in ostentation of his hardiness, is represented as spreading them beneath him on the mire. And the effect of his movement in the waters is given with great strength of imagery and expression—raising such a commotion there as to make the sea like a boiling pot. The electric luminousness that is excited by these agitations is adverted to; and there is immense power in the feature that "one would think the deep to be hoary." It is made white and foamy, like curled and white hair, by the number of bubbles which ascend from his path, and by which though himself unseen, one might trace his progress through the deep. Altogether he is unrivalled, and stands in fear of nothing—the proudest of the proud, or one so superior in strength and greatness of the proud ones of the earth that they might be well humbled in the contemplation of him. There are various conjectures respecting leviathan, whether he be whale or crocodile. It is truly a gorgeous representation that is here given of him; nor is the last trait the least impressive, where he is represented as looking down upon all things, and as king over all the children of pride.—Dr. Chalmer's Daily Scripture Reading.
